Forgotten Books, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Children s Book Collection All that he could find likely to give her pleasure or amusement would Lotto bring up to her little gloomy room, so that Lotto s visits often enabled her to fill up well the time of his absence. The ripest melon to be had in the market, or the most tempting bunch of grapes would be sure to find their way to her, while the seasons were marked to her by the fresh bunches of flowers that Lotto would gather for her in the fields and woods around the city. Mina s most favourite playthings, however, were the scraps and fragments of glass that Lotto collected for her out of his father s workshops. He was a favourite with the workmen, and when not too busy they would mould him ornaments of glass and make him little coloured glass beads to take to his little sick sister who lay ill up stairs. Mina had thus a large collection of pieces of stained glass, with which she used to amuse herself in making all kinds of devices and patterns on the table before her and of threading necklaces and rosaries of coloured beads, she was never tired. She had, however, other employments of a more useful kind, for she could plait straw very neatly, of which she made baskets and mats, and could embroider very prettily in coloured silks and wools, so that in spite of her imprisonment she was seldom idle, and even when Lotto was with her, her little fingers would be busy over some little present or other for her friends.
